Cane blockade on the Pune–Bengaluru highway costs two delivery days

● NETWORK: AMBER

BEFORE DIWALI · 1 DAY TO DHANTERAS · 3 DAYS TO DIWALI

For e-commerce, D2C and consumer-goods teams delivering orders and stocking shops through Diwali.

The day before Dhanteras, 120 km of NH-48 between Satara and Kolhapur sat empty on Wednesday, with cane growers blocking it at two points and hundreds of trucks stranded either side[1]. Raju Shetti, who leads them, says they stay at least till Thursday. So what does that do to a Mumbai parcel bound for Belagavi? It loses two days, and the shops in between may lose their last top-up before Diwali.

● GREEN normal for peak week: busy, but delivery promises hold
● AMBER something is slowing deliveries beyond normal peak
● RED deliveries largely stopped across a state or city, or a courier embargo on the route

DATES THAT MATTER

- Since Sun 1 Nov Delhi admits outside goods vehicles only if BS-VI, CNG, LNG or electric[2]
- Until Thu 12 Nov Pune's old-city markets take goods vehicles only at night
- Sun 8 Nov Kolkata keeps goods vehicles off its roads for Kali Puja
- Mon 9 – Wed 11 Nov Kolkata curbs goods vehicles for the immersions
- Tue 10 – Sat 14 Nov Gujarat's markets and transport shut till Labh Pancham

* Likely impact (#days) on delivery promise up to Diwali within the region, specific to certain cities or pincodes, beyond what is expected for the season.

A second cane blockade at Satara leaves trucks with no way round

West, South · NH-48 from Satara to Kolhapur, the towns on the diversion, and north Karnataka

RED · HIGH COST OF DELAY · HIGH CONFIDENCE

On Wednesday the growers added a second blockade at Nagthane near Satara, and truck drivers stuck since Tuesday staged their own protest, saying cars got through but heavy vehicles had no proper route[3]. Shetti says he will settle for ₹4,200 a tonne, and turned down the state minister's ₹3,850. The state's chief minister has asked him to call it off; Thursday morning's state of the road is not yet reported.

- NH-48, Nagthane to Kini West · +2 days Freight on the trunk road between Mumbai, Pune and Bengaluru has stopped along this stretch. I'd expect loads already on the road to reach their hubs two days late, around Saturday.
- The diversion through Rahimatpur, Sangli and Ankali West · +1 day Police send traffic through these towns, and the sudden load jammed their roads. I'd expect deliveries in Sangli and Satara to run a day late while it lasts.
- Belagavi, Hubballi and on to Bengaluru South · +1 to +2 days Belagavi's own cane protest ended on Wednesday night, and its 29 mills start crushing on Thursday[4]. But its loads from Mumbai and Pune still come down the blocked road, so I'd expect them a day or two late into the weekend.

DECISIONS TO MAKE

For e-commerce and D2C teams

- Orders from Mumbai and Pune to Kolhapur, Belagavi and Hubballi pin codes are safer promised for Diwali than for Dhanteras, my estimate, since parcels on the blocked stretch are held two days.

For FMCG and consumables distribution

- Diwali top-ups for Kolhapur, Sangli and Satara shops are best dispatched by Fri 6 Nov on the Sangli diversion, my estimate, before a district bandh can shut the shops themselves.

What next: The bit that worries me: Shetti threatens a bandh in Kolhapur, Sangli and Satara districts if the price isn't met, and has warned he would stop milk and vegetables reaching Mumbai and Pune[5]. Neither has a date yet.
